

With different shops and thousands of deals around every corner, Traders Village is the place to be on weekends, especially for shoppers and vendors like Marcus Spikes who have an eye for great bargains.

“Traders Village is like Christmas every day. There are so many different shops and there is something for everyone, you just have to know what you're looking for,” Spikes said.

Although Spikes has been able to find many great deals at Traders, one of his favorite items is a work of art to say the least.

“My best find has been a stained glass portrait of Marilyn Monroe. It’s about two feet by four feet and I bought it for $40, but was able to sell it for $3500,” Spikes said.

However, Spikes finds and buys do not stop there, he simply has a talent on what to purchase.

“I was able to find a Darth Vader statue, which ended up being a very big collectible. I also, found an eighteen carat gold watch that I bought for only $30,” Spikes said.

Traders Village offers a wide range of activities for people of all ages. If shopping and riding the rides is not on your itinerary, then the food and live music is definitely worth wild.

“There is truly something for everybody. The food is amazing and you can find anything you need out there. Sometimes I like to close up my shop early, just to walk around and see what I can find,” Spikes said.

At the end of the day, the thousands of dealers and millions of deals are why people come and spend time at Traders Village.

“You don’t even have to buy anything. It is just a lot of fun to walk around and see all the items up for sale. Others should come to Traders Village to see if they can find what is right for them,” Spikes said.
