With the year coming to a close, many people are reflecting over the year and the highlights of 2019. Robert is just one of those people as he looks back at his best purchases at Traders Village.

“I recently found an old military helmet. I collect a lot of military stuff and really like going to Traders for all of the finds,” Robert said.

Although Robert enjoys his collectibles, he also shops at Traders for other unique items and things that can not be bought in a store.

“I’ve bought lots of really cool things over the years like nice jewelry and oil paintings. There are tons of shops and vendors out there. Most of the stuff is pretty cheap and can’t be found anywhere else.” Robert said.

Aside from shopping, Robert enjoys all of the events and activities that Traders Village hosts on the Weekends .

“I like going out there for the company. I've been going to Traders Village since it has been open and there is always something going on, from Pow Wow to the Car Shows, there is something for everybody,” Robert said.

At the end of the day, Robert just loves searching for his next big purchase and the overall atmosphere at Traders Village.

“I love going out to Traders. Sometimes it can be hard to find good deals, but you just have to know what you’re looking for,” Robert said.
